

12 WEF-inspired Info-Killers Total Censorship is only their „After-Party“ (by Ivo Sasek)

On the 54th WEF anniversary, Ursula von der Leyen proclaimed the radical fight against disinformation. Since this battle-cry of the “secret allies”, the free truth movement has been experiencing something that is more troublesome than the feared total censorship itself. In this training course, Kla.TV founder Ivo Sasek presents the WEF’s latest truth-killers. He also describes why total censorship comes only as “dessert on the menu” of the self-appointed elite. Share as widely as possible!

We are in the midst of the biggest information war the world has ever seen. You will hear groundbreaking news that can prepare you for the inevitable confrontations to come. The more attractive a story sounds, the more carefully you should check it! They want to destroy the search for truth and plunge it into chaos to such an extent that in the end not a single person will know what is truth and what is a lie, what is real and what is false. I say: Be diligent and study this training class. On the 54th anniversary of the World Economic Forum – known as the WEF – which took place in January 24, it became unmistakably clear how investigative journalism has shaken most powerful Freemason circles.

There, in beautiful Davos, Ms. von der Leyen had to proclaim the international fight against disinformation. The banning of revealing videos from the Internet has been pushed forward quite vigorously for years. Hundreds of thousands of precious revealing videos have been radically deleted from the internet in the last ten years alone. However, you are too short-sighted if you have understood von der Leyen’s latest battle cry against disinformation as merely an appeal for total censorship; you have not yet fully understood the nefarious nature of this secret guild. And this is not because total censorship would not be on the WEF agenda. Of course it is. But such a quick death of free investigative educators would be far too merciful or too little for these truth despisers. They intend to proceed much more thoroughly. They sense that total censorship would extinguish the truth movement just as little as burning down temples would extinguish any religion.

They realize that overly radical total censorship of the Internet would only strengthen the truth movement and drive it underground. From there, it would then gather and shine forth in all conventional ways and all the more powerfully in word, writing and deed. That is why they intend to inflict far greater damage on us free investigative educators. But how? Quite simply: By trying to create an unprecedented chaos of truth and lies. Yes, such a chaos of real and false, such an explosive mixture of reliable and dangerous reporting that no one can keep up with. In the end, nobody would be able to tell which information is genuine and which is fake. And this would be precisely what has been planned all along, so that these enemies of mankind secure a monopoly on the truth by law and silence all others under threat of punishment. But if we implement this training faithfully and pass it on to everyone, we will effectively thwart their sinister plans. Are you on board? So please stay with me until the end. I think it’s worth it. You will hear groundbreaking news that can prepare you for the inevitable confrontations to come.

We’re going to click through a series of deliberate misinformation and tactics from our attackers. Just so that you can see how far the crudeness of these infowarriors goes. At the same time, we are training ourselves in how we can stand up to these enemies of humanity. For you know, dark times and ruthless people will now only bring us to perfection as is intended for us – if we only take good care and fearlessly use the waves crashing against us to our advantage and even ride them. I will briefly explain how this is done before I give you the following descriptions on their crimes. Do you know how to get on a surfboard and ride these diabolical “end-time waves”? Or how to learn to stand on the “free investigative educator’s surfboard”? Do you have an idea? I’ll tell you how. First of all, simply by not shitting our pants in the face of everything that is inexorably coming our way and that we are about to hear in a moment. That is the first and most important thing. Instead, be firmly confident that you have and will develop far greater abilities than, say, the animals in the wild, if you only face the inevitable with courage.

Before each harsh winter, the latter intuitively build up stocks of fat and put on a thicker coat. Before every catastrophe, flocks of birds form in the air and won’t let themselves be overwhelmed. Likewise, all endangered animals move to safety in time and build up defensive formations. Even rats are known to leave the sinking ship. So take note that the perfections and powers of God will also break through in you, who are fighting for justice and truth. If only you believe and expect it and jump fearlessly onto the soaring waves. Let me tell you that the most massive attacks have also always produced the most massive empowerment and protection in determined people.

The greatest needs have always led to the greatest revivals.

Diabolical downfalls have always evoked divine perfections in sincere people. That’s the way it is. The current total diabolical degradation of intelligence will therefore also bring forth the most substantial wisdom of God from you and us all – if only we do not despair and expect such things courageously. Okay?

I say, even all decimating eugenics efforts will at the same time bring about the most impressive multiplication in every aspect among the fearless. The most massive divisions will also lead to the most massive unifying movements.

The worst wars must eventually turn into the most glorious waves of reconciliation. The current descent of the devil to earth and the omnipresence of demonic attacks will ultimately awaken people exactly in the way all “free media” were previously unable to: Many will be sobered, awakened, horrified, and come to a state of preparedness. They will show willingness and dedication, commitment and action. Do you understand? These all-front attacks catapult – figuratively speaking – the still scattered, self-centred people, cells, limbs and organs to their predestined place in the worldwide human organism!

So each of us free investigative educators should only be faithful to his or her specific task! Therefore, be the fearless light and salt in this world. Be a life-giving organism of mutual complementation and free investigative education, that’s what it means in practice.

But now to the content that I have promised you:

12 case studies of attempted and targeted disinformation SATIRE

The first example is about targeted misleading information given by German TV 3sat, which lives off our compulsory media fees. Let me quote a little from it: The alleged journalist Peter Hellmann, reported on a file that had been leaked to him by the Russian secret services. It is said to contain documents from a scientist “Yuri Albatov” who has discovered a neurotransmitter. Allegedly his substance later fell into the hands of the CIA and NSA technicians used Tesla’s secret diaries to develop a suitable transmission technology. I quote further: In the 1980s, HAARP was the first large transmitter to be put into operation in Alaska in order to manipulate the population with the help of the substance. End quote.

Please be sure to double your attention whenever mainstream sources suddenly share such explosive content, which they have previously stubbornly slandered and denied. You know that the string-pullers in the background never allow their vassals to suddenly hype up should-be conspiracy theories as conspiracy facts. Our intuitive navigation system usually overreacts to such fantastic-sounding false reports with a kind of “salto mortale”. Do you know that? So be careful and immediately check exactly who and what is behind such sudden good news.

In the case just mentioned, 3sat deliberately threw many long-confirmed truths, including the HAARP facilities, into the fire of satire. Only those who became aware that the entire program was being sold as satire were able to make a final assessment of the individual contents. However, the deliberately spread disinformation then circulated online without this overall context. It happens so blatantly that the spread disinformation can sometimes even be disguised throughout an entire lecture. And therefore, the overall context, of the entire lecture for example, must always be taken into account. In consequence I strongly advise against distributing any content from satire programs unless it is constantly noted that it is a satire. No matter how good they may seem at first glance. No good water can come from poisoned springs, do you understand?

In conclusion, my urgent appeal at this point is that most preferably, do not share any sudden and spectacular investigative content from the mainstream. Not even if it seems to come from a place of remorse. These despisers of humanity must first abandon their deadly actions and receive the right punishment for categorically spreading their lies. Until then we can no longer take anything seriously that comes out of their mouths.

2. Example: a video in which a pilot is presented has circulated on the YouTube channel "Der Postillon"

The pilot is said to have been dismissed for “refusing to spray chemtrails”. It was said that this is why he is now suing his former employer, Lufthansa. What is neither apparent in the video nor on the YouTube page is that “Der Postillon” is a satire magazine. The whole program was a SATIRE! And the open confession of these freely invented lies had negligently, I say “been hidden”, in a sub-section of the author’s homepage.

[Film excerpt] Former Lufthansa employee Christoph W. defends himself against his dismissal at the Nuremberg District Court. “I became a pilot because I simply love flying but not to fog people with chemicals.” Really dangerous!

3. An explosive revelation about Angela Merkel was a similar case

The confusion became perfect because all the evidence, including counter-evidence, could not be found. So, years ago, a poem by 13-year-old Angela Merkel (born Kasner) was circulating, which she is said to have published in the communist GDR youth magazine “FRÖSI” back in 1967. An excerpt from this impressive poem sounded like this. I quote, so this was written by 13-year-old Angela.

“The red army
has long wanted to eliminate the enemy.
I don’t need a gun for this – I’ll infiltrate them!
I will become the head of the FRG,
– the class enemy will hate it! –
and follow the SED’s plan to let them go bankrupt!”
End of quote.

Objections followed immediately after the publication of this small article. Why? Because this article was pure satire. Only then did we find out about the background of the publishers. But even after a long research, it turned out that the 1967 edition of “FRÖSI” mentioned in the article could not be found. Older and more recent editions can be found, but only this one, couldn’t. It could never be definitively proven that this poem had never been published there.

You can find all the facts about this in the Kla.TV archive program “Fälschungsbeweise gesucht”. [www.kla.tv/7910]

Now a 4th example

At the end of July 2023, Channel 4 announced that the UK was advertising lab-grown human meat as a solution to the food crisis. This terrifying message immediately went viral on Telegram. However, the “Good Harvest” company that is associated with this news does not exist as the whole story was fictitious. I say that such a publication is a very dangerous attack against the free investigative educators’ scene, and against all those who love the truth. It can therefore never be glossed over as merely satirical commentary on the rising cost of living in the UK.

5. In the next case we leave the scene of direct satire to go into some kind of satirical subsection together

Disinformation is suddenly being spread there in the name of PR Gags.

Examples: The chocolate manufacturer “Rittersport” advertised with a cricket on a green background on January 24, 2023. And next to it two pieces of chocolate and a reference to the new variety “Whole Cricket”. This post immediately caused panic in some social networks.

This is because “Rittersport” emphasized that house crickets have actually been allowed for use in food in the EU since January 24. However, this fake PR news promptly trivialized the entire real scandal surrounding “insects in food” and that is the problem. The result was that anyone who pointed out this actual shortcoming and criticized the EU regulation was immediately discredited by the media. And again, you can recognize the tree by its fruit. Because their victims were immediately branded with the title “scaremongers”.

So please ask yourselves in every sensational report whether the revealed data would actually be possible. From the outset it is highly improbable that the first food product already be on the market just in time with the new EU regulation that authorizes the use of insects in food. Not to mention the fact that it's a food product, in which insects would make no sense at all.

DIRECT DISINFORMATION

The 6th example is even more blatant

This news just landed on my desk lately. After my intuitive perception had landed its “Salto mortale”, I immediately began to switch on my brain. So go through these messages with me briefly and pay attention to what goes on inside you when you hear from the following title: “Japan declares a state of emergency after “nanobots” found in 96 million citizens.”

The further text read: “This raises global concern about COVID-19 mRNA vaccines. While the Japanese government launches an investigation, the pharmaceutical companies and the global elite try to suppress the truth. Learn more about the impact of this unprecedented crisis and the fight for justice in the face of a global media censorship.” End of quote.

You see, with a little thought, even the title seemed to tell me that something was probably wrong here. Because it read, I repeat: “Japan declares a state of emergency after nanobots were found in 96 million citizens.”

Who on earth, from a purely technical point of view, could have carried out elaborate blood analyses or analyses of any kind on these 96 million citizens in such a short time? So I immediately picked up the phone and gave my editorial team the task of investigating this case thoroughly. After all, the article also stated that the government had apologized to the population. This should be verifiable.

So we contacted friends in Japan and asked: “Can you confirm this?” A contact who has lived in Japan for 40 years wrote back to us: Quote unquote: “It’s all made up ... we didn’t hear anything about it.” A Japanese woman who works for Kla.TV was also unaware of this and suspected a targeted disinformation campaign behind it. She wrote: “My parents say they’ve not heard anything like this on the radio or TV.” Even a search in the three largest Japanese newspapers was unsuccessful.

But I went one step further and investigated the source of this spread. And yet, it originated from a movement that is being torn apart like no other by the European mainstream and states as criminal enemies of the state. Even if these headlines turned out to be true retrospectively, Kla.TV would still run into the knife of the compulsory fee-paid media. Because they would only associate us with these enemies of the state, without considering any content. Do you see how ugly this game is? As you can see, the fight against disinformation announced by Ms. von der Leyen is already in full swing, and not just the usual internet censorship. Following her declaration of war on the 54th anniversary of the WEF, many attacks are already underway against free investigative educators and against investigative journalism: for example through increasing intimidation, discrediting, even arrests and targeted reputational damage. And again, why all this? To stop all the more effectively the aforementioned damaged investigative educators rather than just censor them. But all such defamation campaigns and obstacles to freedom of the press and freedom of opinion are more than just unacceptable. They embody a breach of our basic democratic rights! The victims are not only those mentioned here, but also every citizen who is forced to co-finance such crimes on opinion through compulsory paid fees. In Switzerland, even if a house doesn’t even have a television connection, with horrendous media taxes. At present, Germany pockets around €8.5 billion, Switzerland 1.2 billion francs and Austria €722 million a year in compulsory fees, whereas the free investigative educators they disgrace have to finance all these incredible services out of their own pockets and from voluntary donations!

FALSE PICTURES AND SCENES

7. Let’s take a look at targeted disinformation through deceitfully faked images and staged scenes using AI:

A few months ago, some news of Donald Trump’s arrest circulated. The “disinformer” Eliot Higgins had previously created AI photos showing Donald Trump being arrested. These naturally had a very dramatic effect on Trump supporters, which was additionally fueled by the disinformant’s comments. He wrote, quote-unquote “I’m taking pictures of Trump’s arrest while waiting for him to be arrested.” The images immediately made the round in the free educator’s scene. They realized only afterwards that the pictures were falsified.

The 8th example is about a similar "AI disinformation product"

Many free investigative educators were then immediately condemned to be part of the “conspiracy theorists’ corner” in regards to Klaus Schwab and the WEF. A video went viral showing how Iranian producer Damon Imani insulted this institution and its founder Klaus Schwab on stage at the WEF in Davos with the foul words: “Fuck you, Klaus Schwab, and your new world order.” End of quote.

Schwab, together with the Swiss defense minister, then left the stage in an agitated state. [Film clip: “Fuck you, Klaus Schwab! And fuck your New World Order! We, the people, were born free, we will stay free and you and all your globalist friends, including everyone in this room can go fuck yourselves!”

And you see, here, as well, the navigation field will have certainly jumped for joy in most free investigative educators. It is precisely because of this “bouncing of the soul” that we should immediately think and ask ourselves whether it is realistic for something like this to happen at the WEF and why no one reacted. But instead, agitated free investigative educators began to spread this video everywhere as if they were stung by a tarantula despite the fact that no uproar resulted following this “public vilification” or an intervention by the security forces – you understand? This video is also a vile “deep fake”, a fake with the help of artificial intelligence. So this is how the new methods of the proclaimed infowar are currently manifesting themselves. Let us learn from this!

9. It gets really intense with a somewhat blurry video with the headline:

“Bill Gates 2005 at the CIA on mind control via virus, vaccination + genetic manipulation”

That’s the title.

Again, you know, when I looked at it, I immediately felt the stirring of my spirit again. That was simply too ingenious, an absolute pike in the carp pond of investigative journalism, I thought. As this was combined with six other brilliant investigative reports on other matching pharmaceutical crimes, this was definitely the catch of the year for me. I was happy to overlook the overreaction of my spiritual navigation system. I watched the lecture Bill Gates is said to have given to a CIA committee in 2005. There he showed how brain-altering viruses and vaccinations can make a radical fundamentalist as tame as a kitten.

You know, when I had heard about this manipulation of the so-called “God gene” a few years earlier, which is what the other guy is talking about in the video, my intuition spontaneously signaled: “That’s nothing but bullshit.” But then, ironically, when you get to see such a lecture with pictures and sound, you generously ignore the “God gene” remark. Because now you can see Bill at work in the flesh with sound and vision. So it must have happened this way.

When enough free investigative educators had already pounced on the video and shared it everywhere, the treacherous enemy came along and simply set the slightly blurred image to “sharp”. And oh shock – that wasn’t Bill at all, and certainly not in front of the CIA. But that’s not all. When I smelled the disinformation roast again and my soul had done the “salto mortale” backwards, we sent this video to the molecular geneticist Dr. Michael Nehls for examination of the remaining content. And he commented, quote: “I only watched half of it, that was enough for me. Here, a gene is picked out at random and a correlation with religious beliefs is constructed. (...) You could just as well be as fundamentalist (indoctrinated) to believe in a computer simulation of the universe, he writes, (...) or in anti-CO2 genes or whatever. And when these brain scans came along, without scientific facts, just stories, I had to switch off.”

End of quote.

I want to use this short training course to sensitize all investigative journalists on how to deal with such sensational news. Please have everything fantastic verified by more than one witness if possible. If you can’t do that, please let it go. Because every successful fake news by the bad guys is followed by an area bombardment against all free investigative educators. That’s the problem we all have then. Therefore, please do not publish anything without watertight sources!

INTERNATIONAL DECEPTION THROUGH OMITTING

10th example: Disinformation landmines through malicious censorship of individual parts of sentences:

Another video was circulated, this time from Pfizer CEO Albert Bourla. He said live at the WEF that his company was planning to reduce the world’s population by half. [Film clip:] “The first week we met in January of 19, in California, and we set up the goals for the next five years and one of them was by 2023 we will reduce the number of people in the world by 50 percent. I think today this dream is becoming reality.” Wow, what a feast for free investigative educators! Do you already feel the “Salto Mortale” in your mind by just listening to it? However, this again advises us to verify it twice carefully.

And you can do that, for example, by briefly comparing with the original video of the WEF discussion. And this then was enough to expose the deliberately spread disinformation. You see, a satanic-minded person simply cut out the middle part of the sentence and then shared the video on social networks. In fact, Albert Bourla said this, I quote: “and one of them was by 2023 we will reduce the number of people in the world that cannot afford our medicines by 50 percent.” End of quote.

And this way you could almost endlessly go on documenting further maliciously spread disinformation videos. For example, the one where the Pope bows to Rothschild, Rockefeller and Kissinger. However, a closer look reveals completely different people. Or then again this video of a naked boy rappelling from Buckingham Palace. Just a small photomontage, but with the great effect of having all victims of satanic ritual violence or the reporting on it appear untrustworthy. Especially after the victims finally found the courage to testify as witnesses against the Royal Family. And, and, and ... you could just go on.

PERCEPTION TRAINING

In order to avoid having to repeat my core message unnecessarily often, I will leave it at these 12 case studies and will just complement it with a few words. My core goal is that I want to sensitize you to pay all the more diligent attention to your intuitive perception organ in the future: Whenever an obvious lie comes into play, it pulls you down inside. The real truth, however, makes you calm and free inside. Real truth lifts you up gently and freely inwardly. In other words, anyone who touches reality, stands above the matter, sovereignly and confidently. Whereas when devious false sensation is spread, the needle of our inner truth compass begins to spin wildly in circles. I have been referring to this overreaction here as the “Salto Mortale of the soul” or “Salto Mortale of the spirit”. This may make it easier for you to remember when your intuition notifies you in this way in the future. Please learn to cooperate with it, don't reject it. That is my most urgent message!

TRAINING FOR SOURCE CHECKING

And the lesson to be learned is that the more attractive a story sounds, the more carefully you should check it!

So no matter how much a message may lift you up inside, always look for the context first, the overall context of what is being said! Only pick up a story when your intuitive impression of the real overall context is still lifting you up. Because after all, a malicious misleader could present you with exactly what you want to hear in the first sentence. That's how these unscrupulous people work. And in the very next sentence he could drop the bombshell, so to say, by starting to laugh and mockingly saying: “Haha, that was just satire!” Also never forget that even the compulsory-fee paid media occasionally indulge in such utterly dangerous jokes. An entire program can be based on satire. If this is not openly announced anywhere and only insider guests know this, your intuition can be misused or even instrumentalized in the most dangerous way, unfortunately!

My recommendation, or perhaps I should say my very serious advice is: as a matter of principle, never refer to satire programs. And if you bring it, it must be constantly displayed as a satire. Because these are like fishing bait. “Die Anstalt” on Second German Television, for example, has said so many really true things. But as soon as you make a serious reference to it, you'll be criticized from all sides because it was only satire, not to be taken serious. So, why do you think ZDF could afford such programs in the first place, or all other public satire programs? Such programs embody one of the most seductive attacks on our intuitive powers of perception!

So do plenty of source research: who is behind a statement that totally electrifies you and knocks you off your feet? Which community is behind it? We need to ask these questions. Because even if hard facts emanate from a group or a person, but if this source is poisoned, for example because it is a terrorist organization – what then? The truth attackers will immediately pounce on you alone and link you directly to this terrorist organization, thus ignoring even your best statements, do you understand? That's exactly what they are after!

So they will try to pick the greatest truths from the most criminal or contestable groups, in order to bring them as bait before your face. As soon as you take the bait, they have you on the hook! And that is exactly what they are after! On the other hand, this does not mean that a truth becomes a lie just because it comes from the mouth of some deliberately staged or even real villains! In the case of this pilot, who testified almost in tears how he lost his job because he had not flipped the chemtrail switch at altitude: The fundamental truth about chemtrail flights remains! Of course, never in such a way that any pilot would have to press any chemtrail button. However, it has long been proven beyond doubt that NATO fuels such as "JP8" used in our civilian aircraft make such a button completely needless. It has also been proven beyond doubt that targeted geoengineering missions, initially referred to as chemtrails by the US Air Force, are being flown! That is fact. So what can you do? You can, as I am doing here, exploit such a newspaper or media report. And you do this by exposing the deception on the one hand and by naming the watertight original sources on the other! This way you kill two birds with one stone!

In short: Let us consistently do sufficient source research before we spread a testimony. And I repeat: Let's do it even more if a story is attractive! Until you know exactly from which mouth, from which background and also in what overall context something was said, you can not only be easily fooled, but also deliberately instrumentalized. When are you prone to being instrumentalized? As soon as you don't understand the ultimate intention behind a circulating story. For example, the mandatory-fee paid media always like to use witnesses who make a credible impression to people.

So if any preacher, nun or charity organization is featured in the mainstream media, always be extra critical! When they recently let a preacher in full gear have his say after the great floods in Austria, I thought from the very first moment: "Everyone should know that the mainstream doesn't think much of religion. So why are they letting this man speak?" It didn't take long for the answer to come. First of all, the so-called man of God said that we should finally learn to understand God's message again, which is hidden behind every natural disaster.

And the mainstream wolf in sheep's clothing immediately asked the following question: "In your opinion, what could God's message be with regard to these torrential outpourings?" You can guess how the story ends here: Of course, the now obviously self-elected clergyman humbly pointed out that it was essential to finally protect the climate better. And he has already directly, so to say, obliged the audience to the environmental agenda of the really big players! Can you see how the game is going?

The aforementioned groups of people, such as nuns and other philanthropists, are ideally suited to be instrumentalized for every conceivable hidden agenda. You experienced it during the Covid plandemic: the people-killer Big Pharma used many of its own agents in the guise of science as well as doctors and virologists entangled with it as bait. That's how they deceived entire nations and allowed them to fall into their trap. And as it has now been irrevocably proven, hundreds of millions of people are dead and hundreds of millions more are severely injured. Only because everything that was "scientifically proven", or came from the mouths of the white gods, was trustworthy in people's eyes. Based on his experience, Jesus once proclaimed the following rule of thumb in this subject: Everything that is highly regarded by men is an abomination before God! His advice, not to say His instruction, was therefore: Check everything! Simply everything! And hold on to what is good, what is useful, what proves to be genuine!

Please don't forget the context of why we are talking about all these things! We are in the midst of the biggest information war the world has ever experienced. Because at no previous time did we have the worldwide communication possibilities that radio, TV and the Internet, especially mobile phone technology, cell phones, etc. offer us today! The attacking misanthropes – who consistently come across as philanthropists and saviors of the world – intend to bring down the entire investigative journalism scene with their insidiously implanted disinformation. And they will certainly succeed if we don't learn to see through this extremely sinister game sufficiently! Their aim is to foist this disinformation on us, which they themselves have deliberately implanted from all sides for this purpose!

So now you can see how important, but also how extremely valuable, serious source research is. So let's bring to light all the moles infiltrating us, bring this malicious misinformation to light and show where the disinformation actually comes from! Follow the trail until you've hooked the most devious masterminds! And you'll see that you always end up with the secret society players! Whether they operate via their mainstream media or via their Big Pharma; via their instrumentalized scientists, economic experts or artists who are infiltrated everywhere, no matter what: Let's pull these snakes and scorpions out of every crack and hole to make them visible! I repeat: they want to devastate the search for truth to such an extent and plunge it into chaos so that, in the end, not a single person will know what is a truth and what is a lie, what is real and what is false. Having reached this point, they would then like to get hold of the absolute and legally guaranteed monopoly on truth for themselves. They intend to vilify any mere tendency toward the pursuit of truth. So that, if possible, the entire truth movement would give up their craftsmanship, discouraged because the whole issue is far too complicated, too inscrutable and complex. That is their goal. That is why I am telling you again at this point what the truth is: Nothing at all is complicated if we just stick to these simple principles that I am teaching you here. But for heaven's sake, never be superficial, never be lazy and too comfortable to check everything thoroughly before you pass it on and spread the word! It's a matter of life or death, dear ones!

FURTHER DESTRUCTION METHOD OF TARGETED DISINFORMERS

I will now move on to the last part. In this part, I will give more ground to what has been said so far. And we are adding another very hefty and somewhat demanding aspect with regards to the diabolical approach of the disinformers. Please stay tuned! The worst thing about this information war that is currently raging is the frontal attack on our intuition. Millions of people who have woken up have just begun to return to their intuitive sense of truth and trust this inner navigation system. People have started to listen not only to the one mainstream voice, but also to counter voices. As a result, they have incessantly chosen to listen to the voices having a higher uplifting effect on them, and to even follow those kind of people that have been utterly discredited in the mainstream. That is why the exposed destroyers of humanity are now trying to damage any form of counter-voice.

They do this by mingling their deliberately faked dissenting voices with the free investigative educators. We have just outlined and hopefully understood, at least to some extent, what this looks like. Another method of destruction used by deliberate disinformers is an even more insidious form of defamation. Up to now, the free investigative educators have simply been given disgraceful titles, such as "conspiracy theorists", "anti-Semites", "sectarians", "political sects", "self-elected apostles", "lay preachers", etc. But now the current method of defamation lies in the deliberate spreading of rumors.

One of the latest rampant rumors simply throws best free investigative educators into the corner of the so-called controlled opposition. Recognize in such psychological warfare, also called "Psy-Op" [word explanation: psychological operations], the highest degree of current seduction! You know, the independent and free investigative educators have become so dangerous to the would-be elite that the world's leading secret guilds have had to mingle with the free investigative educators in order to take over and redirect the opposition from within. And this “psy-op tactic” to infiltrate the enemy is nothing new, it has been around for thousands of years.

We even read in the Bible, for example, of a Hushai who had crept into the camp of his enemies as a false counselor. But it was a psychologically driven opposition ploy. And so they turned the hearts of warlords and kings like rivers of water in a decisive hour. With windy, euphonious and convincing words and arguments, they persuaded kings who were ready to attack to retreat when it would have been the most favorable hour to attack. On the other hand, they tempted rulers who were still completely under-equipped to attack immediately. Wherever these infiltrated advisors were listened to, they were immediately defeated. This is exactly how the controlled opposition works. And you better believe it, it's exactly the controlled opposition which is the current tactic of our would-be world rulers.

But how can you tell which opposition is truly guided by the octopus, and which free investigative educator was just reported of belonging to the controlled opposition? It is ultimately quite simple – even if it is somewhat more demanding than the three aspects of the doctrine of intuition, which are referred to in technical language as the law of the spirit of life. All we really have to do is pay close attention to the goal a person is working towards.

Without mentioning any names, I'll give you a case study: Most free investigative educators have understood by now what the common themes behind recent and current world history are. There is an octopus-like secret society that has been striving for world domination for centuries. These secret allies have been talking quite openly about their new world order for a long time. But for them, this means: Nation states must be dissolved, humanity must switch from cash to digital money that can be monitored, and the whole of humanity must be monitored in such a way that every action of every person can be controlled and directed at all times. Furthermore, religions must go in order to make way for the one new world religion, which is ultimately the cult of Lucifer. In short, the whole world is to be brought under one leadership, all means of production are to be controlled by one leadership.

But also the healthcare system, education, science, the judiciary, politics and the media, including culture, must be brought under one leadership with the octopus. That is its goal. And you see, the common themes do not even stop at gender. The octopus wants to dissolve all traditional values in a nihilistic manner, so that even men and women or the traditional family no longer have a right to exist. Ultimately, only predetermined new narratives that people are forced to believe and implement are to be applied. And whoever does not comply will be eliminated and will end up in the pre-planned ghetto. And you see, if some person now comes along and joins the ranks of the free investigative educators and eloquently incorporates any of these goals into his or her opposition speeches and efforts – then you can be sure that at best it's a person instrumentalized by the psy-op, or at worst the controlled opposition directly.

So be sure to pay attention to their words and their actions – especially their actions! After all, our politicians around the world are constantly showing us how they promise us all kinds of things we want to hear before each election. After the election, however, they usually do the exact opposite. So their works do not match their words! This is exactly how the controlled opposition works in the midst of the free investigative educators. It creeps in everywhere. It adopts the slogans of the free investigative educators, but gradually guides them towards the octopus' intended goals.

So when, for example, eloquent opposition leaders stage themselves against the war and divert people's energies to climate change as an alternative – then you already know for sure that they are serving the WEF's agenda. When they raise their voices in the midst of free investigative educators and complain against the omnipotence of Big Pharma, but on the other hand advise people to undergo their vaccination programs anyway – then you are dealing with a controlled opposition. And whoever may complain ever so loudly against the system of interest and compound interest, denounces the power of the Rothschilds, the Fed, the central banks etc., but at the same time leads people into the digital currency or even just allows them to be led into it without resistance – is almost certainly controlled opposition.

You see, the most challenging part of recognizing a controlled opposition is knowing the common themes or threads, in other words the goals of this world domination octopus. Of course, greenhorns in the educational scene will always find it difficult to see through the sinister game. Greenhorns are therefore also the preferred targets of the guided opposition because they are easily misguided and instrumentalized. All you have to do is tell them two or three sentences that they want to hear and they'll blow the same horn at full blast. So if we want to win this information war, we must first and foremost pass on training courses like this one to all free investigative educators – at best to all humans, and especially the newcomers.

At this point, however, I would like to emphasize once more what the currently preferred trend of the evil disinformers is: Because they themselves are in the process of building up controlled opposition everywhere, they prefer to suspect the best of the free investigative educators of belonging to the controlled opposition. This is how they practice division. Just these days I received another letter from a really great free investigative educator. I was previously unwilling to distribute his book together with Kla.TV as it stirs up racism. He is so disappointed in me that he now intends to publicly accuse me of belonging to the controlled opposition or being a “psy-op activist”.

Can such crazy slander and divisive plans be outdone? Just imagine: An Ivo Sasek, who has proven with all his deeds for decades that he embodies the very opposite of the would-be world rulers, is now suddenly supposed to be an agent of his arch-enemies? You see, it would be very easy to see through: All you have to do is read my book “Lord of Transformation” and you will be able to observe my entire developing story from the bottom up. You know, every week and every month of our work has been meticulously summarized in detail in newsletters. You can compare word and deed side by side, over almost five decades now.

But you see, if the diabolical disinformers will succeed in denigrating all kinds of freedom fighters as the controlled opposition of the wicked – who could listen to such people without being divided and then losing their final courage? So recognize the tree by its fruit, as Jesus once taught: An apple cannot grow from a thorn bush. Nor will an apple tree show thorns on its branches. Therefore, open your eyes and hearts and recognize who you have in front of you and where these people are ultimately leading you so that you do not fall victim to the information war with all its confusing methods. Because these are as poisonous as a plague. And those who let the poison of lies into themselves are the first to experience a blatant inner split, even towards people they once loved and valued. These are the pulling-down effects. I am currently experiencing once again just how far this can go.

These people have even managed to denigrate me to a man who is after money. And this after I have demonstrably provided and handed over all my services and products for free for well over 45 years. Without ever having published a single account number or taken even the smallest collection, and last but not least without having made even the slightest appeal for donations. I didn't do any of that. But now I'm supposed to be a man prone to money. But I ask: What more can you do with your works than to be at everyone's disposal like a slave for a lifetime – voluntarily, wholeheartedly and truthfully? What more can you do? Simply recognize the degree of poisoning emanating from the malicious disinformers here.

I say, be diligent and study this training. Spread it as much as you can so that we would be able to ride these new waves and take advantage of them. Truth must prevail in the end. And

I say, it will prevail if only we do not lose heart, but hold on to the fact that God will enable us inwardly and outwardly to live in His blamelessness and overcome all these wicked excesses! In conclusion, I would like to point out once again that every form of satanic escalation and attacks ultimately only causes the powers and abilities within us to develop. Likewise, they will ultimately only multiply us, perfect us and drive us towards our empowerment. Every attack – whether from outside or inside – must and will increase our spiritual “gifts” according to principle. It will sharpen the arrows of our word, activate our power of revelation and disclosure. Only this, if we keep at it. And these said corrupters of the people will maneuver themselves into a global court. That is how it will be. But only as long as we all remain confident, believing and steadfast. All specialists from all areas are a great support for us in this fight. Please do not spare yourselves and face these unprecedented challenges together with us. If we don’t, it will be the downfall of us all. If we do, however, we will bring the New World, which has already begun, to its full bloom together.

I am Ivo Sasek, who has been standing before God for 48 years.
