Hello and welcome to today's media commentary on Klagemauer-TV! From the first day of war in Ukraine there have been scandals in the defence sector. According to S. Smith the extent of the corruption in the Ukrainian army has become a real danger to the entire state security. Smith has been in Ukraine as British ambassador, since 2012 and pursues the events. "Transparency International" registers Ukraine as one of the countries with the greatest risks in the armament sector. Why? Heavy and light weapon systems from the USA and the EU are said to have been resold in large amounts by the Kiev government to wealthy customers in Africa and the Middle East. Prime Minister Yatsenyuk is supposedly the initiator of the arms sales.

He allegedly arranges the business deals and ensures that everything flows smoothly. The transports apparently mostly run in the night and are handled at the Port of Odessa. In this way the Ukrainian oligarchy unashamedly enriching themselves, while the average persons monthly income has decreased to 130 Euros and this with an official inflation rate of 28,5%. Dear viewers, stay tuned with us during these events to bring the truth out into the light. Thank you and have a good evening!
