In todays report, valued viewers, we will look into the fate of human lives. Like in an exciting de-ctective-thriller, good and evil are up against each other, interests and calculated power interests clash. The facts could even provide the material for a Hollywood blockbuster. But it's real life and has already happened in the USA.

In summer 2015, 14 doctors died or disappeared under mysterious circumstances - and this all within only a 5 week period. What did these doctors have in common?

In addition to being trained medical doctors, they were also naturopaths. Among other things, they were all researching vaccines. And they had something else in common: they were all opponents of vaccinating. They treated their patients with a specific immunotherapy called GcMAF. This is a naturally occurring protein which strengthens the immune system lastingly and effectively.

This protein-based immunotherapy has reportedly brought significant results in fighting many different afflictions, such as multiple sclerosis, Parkinson, Alzheimer, kidney and liver disorders, bacterial and viral infections etc. Immunotherapy is especially used in the fight against cancer. In the process the discovery was made, that GcMAF supports the body in detecting and fighting against cancer cells. Evidently the self-healing powers of the body are decisively supported through this therapy. Dr. Jeff Bradstreet, a leading member of the research team, developed a very inexpensive blood test in addition to this.

With this simple method, a reliable early cancer detection test can be performed. With the so-called "Nagelese blood test" additional tests are unnecessary.

Jeff Bradstreet and all his fellow researchers were visited by the US-Food and Drug Administration authorities, shortly before their deaths. They all received a "warning". In order to intimidate them even more, their homes and medical practices were searched. Subsequently arrest warrants were issued against them. Supposedly Bradstreet consequently committed suicide.

Valued viewers, what aims do the US health authorities have in mind with this behavior towards researching doctors? In this case we can probably answer the question ourselves, especially since an accumulation of such nebulous and mysterious similarities can be found in many other cases, not only here with this one. "It seems that the network of health policy and pharmaceutical industry - which has fallen into the hands of criminals - seems to not tolerate either a loss of revenue or competition."

Already the German physician and founder of cellular pathology, Dr. Rudolf Virchow once said: "In every era, two main obstacles got in the way of the development of medical science: the authorities and the systems." Thank you for your interest! Join us again next time!
